AGREEMENT SCHOOL OBLIGATIONS

“The school adheres to the principle that its relationship with its students is one based on contract and, as such, is reciprocal in nature. Both contracting parties (i.e., the school and its students, and in case the student is a minor, his or her parents or legal guardians) recognize that while the school is obligated to provide its students with a good education, the students must also abide by the school’s academic and disciplinary standards set forth in the school’s Student Handbook, that they are required to agree to upon the student’s admission or enrollment.

“To meet the school’s substantial operating cost, prospective enrollees are informed at the time of enrollment of the school’s tuition and other fees and charges (the whole or any part thereof referred to as “Financial Obligations”), the terms of payment thereof and available payment options. All students are expected to comply with their Financial Obligations to enable the school to meet its own obligations (financial and otherwise) to its students, its other stakeholders, as well as the government. Thus, a default by a student of his/her Financial Obligation to the school is a material breach of the educational contract and, as such, shall be a just or valid ground for the school to withhold a student’s grades, school records or official transcript, or school/transfer credentials (individually or collectively referred to as “Credential/s”).

“Consequently, when the school exercises its right to withhold a student’s Credential/s for non-payment of the student’s Financial Obligations, the student shall hold the school, and any one acting for and in behalf of the school, absolutely free and harmless from exercising such right. Any cost or expense incurred by the school in defending itself from any such unfounded claim or cause of action of any student, including attorney’s fees, arising from or in connection with the school’s exercise of its right to withhold a student’s Credential/s for just or valid cause as stipulated herein, shall be for the student’s account and to be reimbursed by them to the school.”
